REED TO GRILL SESSIONS ON COMEY FIRING

1 Democratic Sen, Jack Reed said he would question U.S. Attorney General Jeff Sessions why he was involved in the firing last month of FBI Director James Comey after he had recused himself from matters relating to the Russia probe. "There's a real question of the propriety of the attorney general participating in that in any way, shape or form," Reed, a member of the Senate intelligence committee, said on "Fox News Sunday." Sessions said in a letter on Saturday that he will appear before the committee to address matters that Comey brought up last week in dramatic testimony to the same panel. The letter did not say whether Sessions planned to give public testimony on Tuesday or to appear before the panel behind closed doors. REUTERS

TICKET SOLD IN CALIF. WINS $448M POWERBALL

2 One ticket sold in California matched all the winning numbers drawn for the Powerball jackpot that soared to an estimated $448.7 million. The numbers revealed just after 11 p.m. were 32, 26, 20, 38 and 58, with a Powerball 3. Lottery officials said one ticket, purchased in Sun City, California, matched all the numbers for the grand prize. The lump sum payout for the winning ticket would be $279.1 million. The grand prize in the multi-state U.S. lottery soared to its highest in months after 19 straight drawings failed to produce a winner. The last Powerball drawing to produce a jackpot winner was on April 1, said California Lottery spokesman Mike Bond. California is one of 44 states, plus Washington, D.C., Puerto Rico and the U.S. Virgin Islands, that participate in Powerball. REUTERS

BRITAIN, US DENY TRUMP STATE VISIT DELAYED

3 Prime Minister Theresa May's office said on Sunday there had been no change to plans for President Donald Trump's to come to Britain on a state visit, after the Guardian newspaper reported the trip had been postponed. The paper, citing an unidentified adviser at May's Downing Street office who was in the room at the time, reported Trump had told May by telephone in recent weeks that he did not want to come if there were likely to be large-scale protests. "We aren't going to comment on speculation about the contents of private phone conversations," a spokeswoman for May's office said. "The queen extended an invitation to President Trump to visit the UK and there is no change to those plans." REUTERS

PROTESTERS RALLY AGAINST ISLAMIC LAW IN DOZENS OF US CITIES

4 Protesters held rallies across the United States on to denounce Sharia law, the Islamic legal and moral code that organizers say poses a threat to American freedoms, but critics believe anti-Muslim hatred is behind the condemnation. ACT for America, a self-described grassroots organization focusing on national security, staged rallies in New York, Chicago, Boston, Denver and Seattle, as well as many smaller cities. Hundreds of people pledged on social media to attend an event that ACT billed as "March against Sharia." On the steps of the Pennsylvania state capitol in Harrisburg, barricades and a heavy police presence, including officers mounted on horses, separated about 60 anti-Sharia demonstrators from an equal number of counter-protesters. Many of the latter were dressed in black masks and hoods and chanting, "No Trump, no KKK, no fascist USA." REUTERS GETTY IMAGES

5 THINGS YOU NEED TO KNOW

UBER BOARD TO DISCUSS CEO ABSENCE

5 Uber Technologies Inc.'s board will discuss Chief Executive Travis Kalanick temporarily stepping away from the embattled ride-hailing firm and consider sweeping changes to the company's management practices at a meeting on Sunday, according to a person familiar with the situation. The person briefed on the matter said the board will discuss Kalanick taking time off from the company. The discussion involved the possibility that Kalanick might return in a role with less authority, this person said, either in a position other than CEO or as CEO with narrower responsibilities and subject to stronger oversight. The source said it is not clear that the board will make any decision to change Kalanick's role. The board is expected to adopt a number of internal policy and management changes recommended by outside attorneys hired to investigate sexual harassment and the firm's broader culture. REUTERS

Couples Are Raving Over New Sex Cream

Find out why couples across the country are raving about a new invention called Sensum

By Steven Wuzubia
Health Correspondent

Clearwater, Florida – If you are a man, over the age of 40, who struggles with achieving and maintaining a firm erection or has difficulty reaching climax - then you may be in luck!

For a limited time, a breakthrough new invention is being made available to a lucky few who want to experience what's it's like to have double, even triple the penile sensitivity.

Meet Specialist, Dr. James L. Yeager. He is changing sexual medicine as we know it.

AMERICA'S "SEX DOCTOR" TO THE RESCUE

According to Dr. Yeager, you may suffer from Reduced Penile Sensitivity (RPS). This can cause loss of confidence, frustration, even depression and anxiety.

"Many men do not feel comfortable telling even their doctor about trouble with erections, and a lack of feeling and pleasure during intercourse."

After all, the formula for great sex is simple...

The more penile feeling you have, the more aroused you get, which provokes a firm and lasting erection and a full and satisfying orgasm whenever you want. Bottom line: if you don't have enough "feeling" in your penis, it's impossible to get an erection.

You're not alone. Reduced Penile Sensitivity (RPS) is estimated to strike over 500 million men on a worldwide basis. The condition is commonly associated with aging, diabetes, circumcision, certain surgeries and prescription drugs.

ED pills like Viagra, Cialis and natural pills work for many, but men with RPS often end up taking more than directed in the hope of increasing their penile sensitivity, and even then they don't work well enough.

Let's face it. The inability or long wait to reach orgasm is bad enough. But failure to achieve a firm erection is devastating! It's one of the leading causes of relationship problems. And avoiding sex often leads to failed marriage. It's a horrible problem.

RESTORE SENSITIVITY, ENJOY SEX AGAIN

Dr. James Yeager saw firsthand the suffering of his patients. "It's not their fault. They've done nothing wrong. And they are not any less of a man." Yet he wondered why modern medicine was failing in its mission to provide these men lasting relief.

As a result, he spent long sleepless nights locked up in his lab ... researching every study he could get his hands on regarding penis sensitivity and came up with a cream that changed sexual medicine as we know it.

His biggest discovery? A super-nutrient called Cinnamaldehyde. This special ingredient activates the TRPA1 receptor (IC50 = 9.5μM) in your body. It increases the reaction of sensory neurons to stimuli such as warmth, cold and touch. This activation results in more sensitivity of the penis and a more pleasurable sensation.

Dr. Yeager made this super-nutrient the core of a revolutionary new cream called SENSUM+® which promises to give you what no pill can... incredible, long- lasting sensation, even from the slightest touch.

"Like Teenagers Again!"

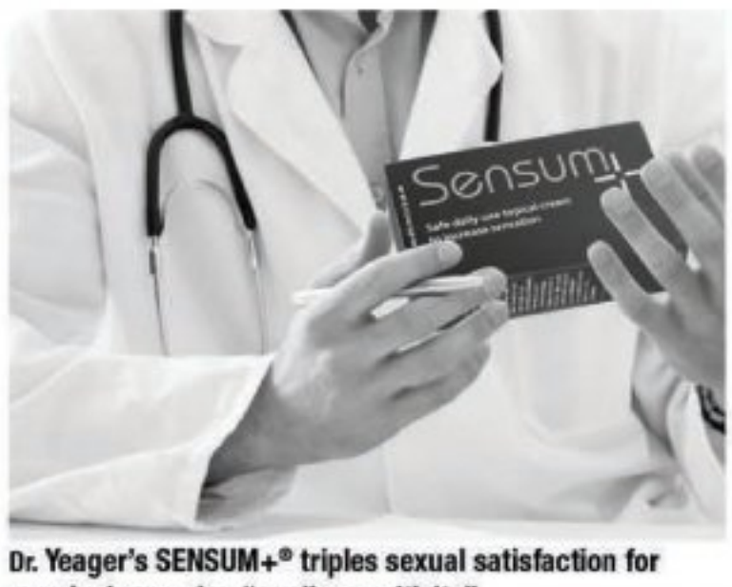
"This has caused our sex life to be like we are teenagers again! My wife and I are both much happier and more satisfied. A real life-changer! I am so glad for Dr. Yeager's invention to fix this problem without dangerous prescription drugs."

- Robert H., West Palm Beach, FL

HOW IT WORKS

SENSUM+® is a blend of essential oils and natural botanicals that can double, even triple your overall penile sensitivity. It's like removing your leather gloves -- and feeling your lover with your bare fingers again! So even men who've had little feeling in their penis are suddenly able to exercise sexual power over women again. Without worry... anxiety... or a second of doubt.

The word is getting out. "Even men without E.D. problems are buying up more than we can produce", says Dr. Yeager.

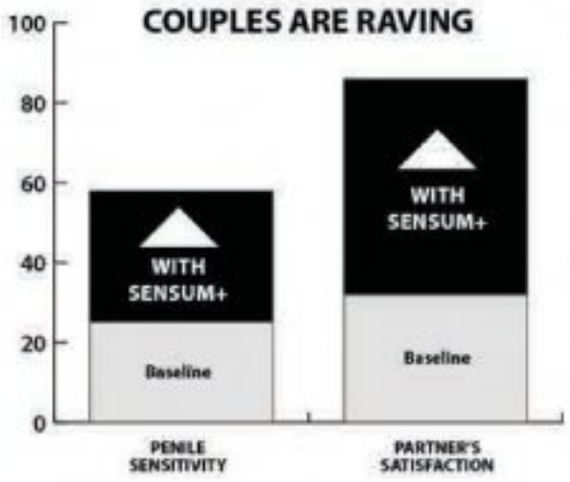


Dr. Yeager's SENSUM+® triples sexual satisfaction for men by increasing "penile sensitivity"

CLINICALLY PROVEN

The clinically-proven nutrients in SENSUM+® help you get and keep a hard erection very easily, and also let you climax when you want to.

For example, Joe Romas, 52, from Oakland, was frustrated he had little penile sensation during sex. This made it take too long to ejaculate. He had nearly given up until he discovered SENSUM+® cream. Within one week of starting he reported, "I now have my old feeling and pleasure back. Sex is fun again and feels great. My wife and I are much happier now."



SENSITIVITY AND SATISFACTION DOUBLED, TRIPLED

SENSUM+® is clinically proven to end the most common male sexual problems fast and effectively. The result of two clinical studies on men, both circumcised and not, show SENSUM+® more than doubled penis sensitivity and more than tripled sexual satisfaction. And what's more is that their partners enjoyed sex so much more when they used the cream - nearly 300% increase in sexual satisfaction. Couples are raving.

PRIVACY GUARANTEED

SENSUM+® is patent-pending and is equally effective for both circumcised and non-circumcised men. No side effects or medicine interactions have been reported.

The sooner you start using this cream, the sooner you can have more feeling in your penis again to get and keep a hard erection and enjoy sex more than ever.

SENSUM+® is NOT sold in stores. No prescription or doctor visit is required. Your product will be delivered discretely in a plain unmarked package so your privacy and confidentiality is assured.

SPECIAL INTRODUCTORY OFFER

This is the first official public release of SENSUM+® in Massachusetts. Only a limited supply of SENSUM+® is currently available in your region. The manufacturer, Innovus Pharmaceuticals, is offering a special introductory discount to the first 100 Massachusetts residents who place an order today.

Franklin Park to become city destination under Imagine Boston 2030 plan

A big part of the city's plan is making Franklin Park more connected to other areas so it's easy to visit.

SARAH NICHOLS/FLICKR CREATIVE COMMONS

The Imagine Boston 2030 is poised to put Franklin Park as one of the city's top destinations — right next to the Freedom Trail and Boston Common on checklists for both visitors and locals to visit.

Franklin Park is referred to as the "crown jewel of the Emerald Necklace," the park system designed by landscape architect Frederick Law Olmsted (who is also the brains behind Central Park) that sits right in the heart of Boston and extends to Brookline.

Franklin Park is the largest park in Boston and covers more acres than the city's downtown area, said Natalia Urtubey, director of engagement for Imagine Boston 2030, but it's been underutilized.

Urtubey said that the park is already a destination for some people because it contains the Franklin Park Zoo, but a lot of others, especially Boston residents, don't really know about it or all it has to offer.

"We want it to be a regional destination," she said. "We also want it to be functional, exciting and a gathering place for the existing neighborhoods."

To make it such a gathering place, a key part of the Imagine Boston 2030 plan is improving connectivity to the park from the Fairmount Line, bus routes and to drivers by adding parking. That way, it's accessible from the city's main streets and all neighborhoods, not just those directly surrounding the park.

Franklin Park is bordered by Jamaica Plain, Roxbury, Roslindale, Mattapan and Dorchester. This can make the planning process a bit difficult, as those from different neighborhoods primarily use different parts of the park and have different concerns about its future.

"Basically, how people interact with the park is usually that they interact with whatever section is closest to them," Urtubey said. "Folks from Jamaica Plain, their backyard is essentially the Wilderness. Other folks can walk to the kiddie playground. [Some people] cut through Franklin Park to get to work."

About 45 of these residents from the park's surrounding neighborhoods came to an engagement event Thursday night to voice their thoughts on how the park should change. It's a challenge to juggle, Urtubey said, but it also brings the communities together.

Some residents expressed interest in customizing the park by beautifying it through suggestions such as a perennial garden or a landscape feature that the park is known for, like a specific kind of flower.

"I think it gives people the opportunity to make a space that they really can own and be accountable for," Urtubey said of Imagine Boston 2030.

MORE TORTURE SESSIONS FOR JEFF

Jeff Sessions had a terrible, horrible, no good, very bad week.

At least that's finally over. But wait! Now, it appears that this week could be even worse. As with little Alexander in one of the greatest children's books of all time, nothing's been going right for Donald Trump's attorney general.

Seven short days ago, word broke that Donald was steaming mad at him. According to people close to both men, the prez was steamed that the AG had recused himself from the Russian hacking probe. In Trump's swirling mind, that's what led to the appointment of special counsel Bob Mueller, who suddenly seemed to be investigating everything.

No president wants that, least of all Donald Trump.

Sessions offered to resign, an offer Trump deflected — for now. When Sean Spicer was asked if the president was still a Sessions fan, the White House press secretary had to duck. "I have not had a discussion with him about that," Spicer said.

On Thursday, ousted FBI Director Jim Comey hinted darkly about the attorney general's deeper connection to Russian interference in the 2016 election. On Friday, we learned that Sessions may have hidden a third secret meeting with Russian Ambassador (and Trump pal) Sergey Kislyak. Meetings 1 and 2 had already slipped Sessions' mind.

Even the weekend provided no relief for the beleaguered Jefferson Beauregard Sessions III.

As Democrats howled for answers, Sessions canceled a long-planned appearance in front of the Senate and House Appropriations Committees, subbing Deputy Attorney General Rod Rosenstein. Sessions said he'll appear before the Intelligence Committee instead — most likely in a secret hearing, a Justice Department official made clear.

Bad things in Washington almost never get better on their own. Sooner rather than later, Sessions will have to answer questions from the media, from the senators and, most dangerously, from special counsel Mueller. All three can see the cornered attorney general would be an ideal insider to flip on the president.

What does Sessions know about Comey's firing? How involved was the Trump campaign in the Russian interference? Can you say "collusion"? Yesterday, Sen. Pat Leahy spoke for many when he warned Sessions tartly: "You can't run forever."

No, you can't.

I wish Katy Perry would stop

This is getting old, Perry.

I'd like to go on the record and say I think we've heard enough of Katy Perry talking about Taylor Swift. She should stop now.

The "Bon Appetit" singer is pretty desperate to sell copies of her new album "Witness." Part of her attempt at drumming up sales is talking about her feud with Swift. Which she has done basically every week for the last two months.

Now, the 32-year-old is ready to let it go. Because her album came out over the weekend and she already has drummed up as much press as she could. "I forgive her and I'm sorry for anything I ever did," she said on The Thrive Global Podcast. "I think it's time. … There are real problems in the world. You know what I'm saying?" Barely!

Jessica Chastain has a rich Italian husband now

Over the weekend, Oscar-nominated actress Jessica Chastain married a rich Italian man. His name is Gian Luca Passi de Preposulo, and that's a lot of names, my dude!

The 40-year-old actress had been dating Passi de Preposulo, 34, for five years before tying the knot. Chastain, hasn't said much about her now-husband, since she's like, private about her private life or whatever.

Looks like you nabbed a good one, Chastain. ALL IMAGE COURTESY GETTY IMAGES

But she has mentioned, a few times, how happy she is with him. Less than a year after they started dating, the "Zookeeper's Wife" actress told Extra's Mario Lopez that she was very happy with the many-named man. "It's a wonderful thing when a career does so well and your personal life goes so well." Aw!

The couple wed in Treviso, a city in northern Italy north of Venice. What better place to say your "I do's" than at the family estate? Oh yeah, the Passi de Preposulos have a family estate.

Amber Rose goes full frontal on Instagram

Amber Rose took to Instagram to show the world her mons pubis because, I don't know, she was bored?

The 33-year-old shared a photo on Instagram where she's casually lounging on a staircase, wearing a bikini top, a fur coat and approximately a gallon of body oil. And her bikini bottoms? Well, they were nowhere in sight. The explicit picture showcased a great deal of Rose's upper pants area, and was predictably removed by Instagram within two hours. Because you know, you're not allowed to let it all hang out on Instagram. Those are the rules, man!

She's baring it all. Like, all of it.

Rose responded with a video of rolling her eyes, and an epic plot twist. Turns out, she did it for feminism. Surprise!

"When IG deletes ur fire a— feminist post but you don't give a f—k because everyone picked it up already," she wrote. Then she threw in the hashtags #amberroseslutwalk and #bringbackthebush, just for kicks.

To be fair, she is out here promoting female empowerment with her annual SlutWalk, so fine. I'll give her the feminist angle for her full bush photo.

Can't wait to see more Amanda.

Amanda Bynes is doing great!

Amanda Bynes would like to make a comeback.

The "She's the Man" actress appeared on an interview for Hollyscoop (her first in four years!), and she appears to be sober and healthy and well, and it's truly a delight. She's taking fashion classes at FIDM in Los Angeles! She hikes, she goes spinning and she feeds the homeless!

The 31-year-old actress, who has been leading a private life after facing multiple drinking-related arrests and mental health issues in her late 20s, is planning a full-on return to form. "I want to do TV, maybe a few guest spots on some shows that I'm a fan of and maybe another TV show that I'm the star of," she says.

She also recognizes that this is a great time to clarify her statement about wanting Drake to, ahem, murder her vagina. "I actually wasn't being insincere," she says, shrugging.

Welcome back, girl. We've missed you.

Enjoy food and brews in the park at Taste of Somerville

Head to Somerville hungry this week. PROVIDED

Located near Somerville's Powderhouse Circle, Nathan Tufts Park offers an idyllic, wooded place of solace from the nearby bustle of Davis Square. However, on June 14, the 19th annual Taste of Somerville event will transform the park into a cornucopia of fine foods and craft beverages from more than 60 vendors. Mark your calendar and prepare your stomach for an evening of culinary indulgence.

Somerville's best eats

Taste of Somerville organizer David Flanagan describes the food fest as "a collection of Somerville's best restaurants, breweries, wineries and food trucks getting together for three hours and offering fantastic food." Tasters can pick between standard tickets or splurge for the VIP treatment. This enhanced experience provides oysters with a sparkling wine pairing, exclusive food tastings, plus cocktails by United Liquors and other local vendors.

Taste moved to its new park location this year in response to the event's growing popularity. "Years ago, we had around 500 visitors or so," says Flanagan. "Now we have over 2,000 reservations and the numbers just keep on getting bigger each year."

Beyond the bites

DJ Nate Bluhm will bring the beats as you satisfy your taste buds, and blankets will be provided at the top of the park's hill for foodies to take their food-coma naps. Kids can play on a pop-up jungle gym while adults have access to lawn games including bocce, foosball and cornhole.

Community connections

Aeronaut Brewing Co. co-founder Ben Holmes will once again bring hoppy refreshments to Taste. "We've been around for three years now and have been to the event each year, so Taste of Somerville is special for us," says Holmes. He, like Flanagan, believes that these types of events are great for restaurants to advertise themselves while also taking part in civic engagement. "Aeronaut wants to be a part of the community, and we're a product of the people who have supported us from the beginning," says Holmes. Proceeds from Taste will benefit local nonprofits Somerville Home and Walnut Street Center. HENRY JANI

Rachel Weisz: 'Brexit feels like a death'

Rachel Weisz plays a woman in 19th century England who may or may not be a murderer, in "My Cousin Rachel," now in theaters. FOX SEARCHLIGHT

GETTY

The Oscar-winner talks "My Cousin Rachel" and trying to stay sane in an insane age.

MATT PRIGGE
matt.prigge@metro.us

Rachel Weisz likes it when you're not sure if you like her characters. After all, sometimes she feels the same way. She runs hot and cold on Tessa Quayle, the doomed activist she played in "The Constant Gardener" — the role that netted her an Oscar 10 years ago.

"She was a character on a moral crusade, but she was a real pain in the ass as a person — quite annoying and deeply imperfect," Weisz tells us. "That's what I liked, that she was on the right side of morality but she was no angel. It made me think she was a real person.

"Some characters can be too perfect to have flaws, which makes you not believe them," she adds.

The actress, 47, is through the roof about the responses she's been getting about "My Cousin Rachel." She plays the title role: a mysterious woman in 19th century England who may or may not have murdered her husband. His cousin, Philip (Sam Claflin), certainly thinks she's guilty — until he meets her and finds her charming enough that he quickly falls in love. Still, there's always the chance that Philip could be her next victim, and we spend the entire film wondering which side she's on.

"I made a decision whether she was guilty or innocent," Weisz says. "The director [Roger Michell] didn't want me to tell him which way I decided. It was a mystery from him, which was a fun game."

She won't tell us either. Instead, she likes to hear what viewers think.

"People have interpreted it differently," she says. "I've talked to people who think her charm and warmth is a performance and she's not to be trusted. And I've met people who are more in the camp that she's just a woman trying to be independent and free and is a vulnerable victim of gossip and misunderstanding. You can interpret it both ways, which I find delightful."

Either way, it's clear that "My Cousin Rachel" — based on the 1951 novel by Daphne du Maurier — intends to explore how women were treated in the distant past.

"These rumors are surrounding her because she's different," Weisz explains. "She doesn't fit into her times. She has different sexual mores from those around her — different views on marriage and being owned. She's independent, and that causes a lot of negative gossip. As it still would, let's face it."

For Weisz, the way women are treated in "My Cousin Rachel" isn't that different from today. Society still tends to treat those with XX chromosomes like inferior others.

"It's as if women were some tiny minority. We're half the planet!" she says.

Have some perspective

The ambiguity in "My Cousin Rachel" feels even more pronounced now, when we live in a "post-truth" world — when we can't be sure if our president is a Russian puppet, and Kellyanne Conway drops words like "alternative facts."

"We're living in highly ambiguous times," Weisz says. Still, she's reluctant to only read or listen to those she agrees with. "I used to turn on [Bill] O'Reilly for fun," she says with a laugh. "It's fascinating to listen to someone you don't agree with."

Weisz describes herself as "cautiously optimistic" about the future, hopeful that this intense, unsure period will come to an end.

"There's only so long it can last," she says. "I understand the damage to the Earth is irreparable, but I'm looking at this era as a finite thing. History goes through changes, and people come out the other side. I'm trying to have some perspective."

Still, she doesn't feel that way about everything. "Brexit feels like a death," Weisz adds. "There's no going back. It's like a death in the family — something's gone forever."

UNITED STATES

DISTRIBUTION NOTICE:

TRYING TO KEEP UP: Rapid shipments of packages containing Vault Bricks loaded with valuable .999 solid U.S. State Silver Bars are flowing around the clock from the private vaults of the Lincoln Treasury to U.S. State residents who call 1-888-282-6742 Ext.FMS2319 to beat the 48-hour deadline.

U.S. State Silver Bars go to residents in 6 states

U.S. residents who find their state listed below in bold get first dibs at just the $59 minimum set for state residents while all non state residents must pay $134

AL	AK	AZ	AR	CA	CO	CONNECTICUT	DE	FL
GA	HI	ID	IL	IN	IA	KS	KY	LA
ME	MD	MASSACHUSETTS	MI	MN	MS	MO	MT	NE
NV	NEW HAMPSHIRE	NJ	NM	NEW YORK	NC	ND	OH	OK
OR	PA	RHODE ISLAND	SC	SD	TN	TX	UT	VERMONT
VA	WA	WV	WI	WY

NATIONWIDE – The phone lines are ringing off the hook.

That's because U.S. State Silver Bars sealed away in State Vault Bricks are being handed over to MA, NH, VT, RI, CT and NY residents at just the state minimum set by the Lincoln Treasury for the next 2 days.

This is not a misprint. For the next 2 days residents who find their state on the Distribution List above in bold are getting individual State Silver Bars at just the state minimum of $59 set by the Lincoln Treasury. That's why everyone should be taking full Vault Bricks loaded with five U.S. State Silver Bars before the deadline ends.

And here's the best part. Every MA, NH, VT, RI, CT and NY resident who gets at least two Vault Bricks is also getting free shipping and free handling. That's a real steal because all other state residents must pay over six hundred dollars for each State Vault Brick.

Not long ago, nobody knew that the only U.S. State Silver Bars locked away in the private vaults of the Lincoln Treasury would be allocated to the Federated Mint for a limited release to residents in 6 states. Every single one of the 50 U.S. State Silver Bars are date numbered in the order they ratified the Constitution and were admitted into the Union beginning in the late 1700s.

"As Executive Advisor to the Lincoln Treasury I get paid to deliver breaking news. So, for anyone who hasn't heard yet, highly collectable U.S. State Silver Bars are now being handed over at just the state minimum set by the Lincoln Treasury to residents in 6 states who beat the offer deadline, which is why I pushed for this announcement to be widely advertised," said Mary Ellen Withrow, the emeritus 40th Treasurer of the United States of America.

"These bars are solid .999 pure fine silver and will always be a valuable precious metal which is why everyone is snapping up as many as they can before they're all gone," Withrow said.

There's one thing Withrow wants to make very clear. State residents only have two days to call the Toll Free Order Hotlines to get the U.S. State Silver Bars.

"These valuable U.S. State Silver Bars are impossible to get at banks, credit unions or the U.S. Mint. In fact, they're only being handed over at state minimum set by the Lincoln Treasury to MA, NH, VT, RI, CT and NY residents who call the Toll Free Hotline before the deadline ends two days from today's publication date", said Timothy J. Shissler, Executive Director of Vault Operations at the private Lincoln Treasury.

To make it fair, special Toll Free Overflow Hotlines have been set up to ensure all residents have an equal chance to get them.

Rapid shipments to state residents are scheduled to begin with the first calls being accepted at precisely 8:30am today.

"We're bracing for all the calls and doing everything we can to make sure no one gets left out, but the U.S. State Silver Bars are only being handed over at just the state resident minimum set by the Lincoln Treasury for the next two days. For now, residents can get the U.S. State Silver Bars at just the state minimum set by the Lincoln Treasury as long as they call before the order deadline ends," confirmed Shissler.

"With so many state residents trying to get these U.S. State Silver Bars, lines are busy so keep trying. All calls will be answered," Shissler said. ■

"It's just the beginning of the golden age for data scientists."

SARA FEINSTEIN

JOBS OF THE FUTURE

Data scientists have one of the hottest jobs right now

jobs & education

These experts use their computer science and math knowledge to uncover insights in data and change the way businesses approach challenges. ISTOCK

It's every parent's dream to raise a successful doctor, but in today's high-tech era, there's an even more acclaimed title taking over: the data scientist.

And for those looking to enter the field, finding a job post-graduation should be no problem at all, considering the explosion in the need for these professionals. Industry research firms estimate there will be thousands of job openings in the next few years to meet the huge demand. So what exactly do these experts do?

We spoke with Vivian Zhang, founder and chief technology officer of the NYC Data Science Academy to find out:

What does a data scientist do?

A data scientist is someone with a background in math, computer science and statistics, who uses those skills to gather data and deliver it to companies who are looking to increase results. "He or she might do a forecast for the next quarter's sales revenue, understand the driving factors of marketing activities, and come up with innovative ideas to drive a successful business," says Zhang. "It's the secret weapon that no enterprise or research entity can overlook."

What schooling do you need?

Those who enter the profession are typically trained in business, finance or a technical field like engineering. "But there are also students who come from backgrounds in everything from advertising to English literature and bartending," explains Zhang. "Some of the most important traits for being a successful data scientist are the ability to solve problems and strategize using data," which students can learn by enrolling in a data-science boot camp. These programs will arm them with the computer programming and math skills they need to enter the workforce.

By 2020 the number of data science and analytics jobs is expected to grow by nearly 364,000 to about 2,720,000 according to a study conducted by IBM, Burning Glass and the Business Higher Education Forum.

What's the typical salary?

The median salary for data scientists is $113,436, according to national averages surveyed by Glassdoor.

Finding employment

There is a huge demand for data scientists that will only continue to grow in the coming years. "The amount of data being produced and recorded across all aspects of business and daily life is constantly increasing, and businesses and organizations have to tap into insights from that data," she says. Plus, almost all industries— from finance and banking, to healthcare and education—need these professionals. "I would say it's just the beginning of the golden age for data scientists."

The pros

"It's a fun, challenging, and rewarding profession," says Zhang. Data scientists are also crucial members of businesses, she explains. On regular basis, they build data models that can help guide a company to make smart decisions. "One of the best things about being a data scientist is actually seeing the models you've built producing valuable insight."

The cons

Those entering the field need to be self-driven and quick learners in order to keep up with the changing technology. "It can be a bit of a challenge to stay current with the latest platforms and new tools that are constantly being released."

Sox ready for MLB's worst, and best

The Red Sox will face the lowly Phillies, followed by the red hot Astros this week.

MATT BURKE
matthew.burke@metro.us

The Red Sox (34-27) would be wise to take care of business this week against the lowly Philadelphia Phillies (21-39). In fact, the Sox absolutely should win all four games — the first two at Fenway on Monday and Tuesday, the second two in Philly on Wednesday and Thursday — against their "traditional" National League "rival."

Not only is it crucial for the Sox to keep pace with the first place Yankees, who the Sox lost two of three from on the road last week, but it will be important for Boston to be playing good baseball heading into their showdown with the American League leading Houston Astros this coming weekend in Texas. The Astros are a remarkable 44-19 this season and many are wondering whether or not they're the best MLB team in a generation. Considering no other team in the AL has 40 wins yet (the Yankees are second best with 36), everyone has to admit that what the Astros are currently doing is otherworldly.

Cruising along

It's not exactly an Astros-like pace, but the Red Sox are currently hot too. The Sox are 13-6 in their last 19 games and their .684 win percentage since May 21 is tied for third in MLB, according to RedSox.com.

All top baseball teams need a good balance of strong pitching and hitting, and the Sox have gotten both recently for the most part. Excluding back-to-back embarrassing offensive efforts against the Yankees last week (the Sox lost 8-0 in the Bronx last Wednesday and 9-1 on Thursday), the Red Sox have averaged an impressive 5.7 runs per game since the start of June. The aforementioned Astros are the best offensive team in baseball and are averaging 5.4 runs per game this season to give you an idea of how well the Sox are doing at the plate lately.

David Price will pitch at Fenway on Tuesday night following a controversial week. GETTY IMAGES

On tap

Rick Porcello (3-8, 4.46 ERA) will get the ball for the Red Sox on Monday (7:05 p.m., NESN) against the Phillies at Fenway. Porcello is coming off a relatively ugly outing last week against the Yankees in which he surrendered five earned runs on eight hits (including two home runs).

Jerad Eickhoff (0-7, 5.15) is slated to get the start for Philly on Monday.

David Price will pitch in front of the Fenway faithful on Tuesday (7 p.m., NESN). Price was rocked by the Yankees as well last week, giving up six earned runs to the Bombers. It will be the first time Price will have pitched since he went into an expletive-laced tirade against several members of the Boston sports media last week.

Aries Putting pressure on someone or bending to accommodate others should be averted. You are best off working alone. Appreciate who you are.

Taurus Put more effort into taking care of how you look and fulfilling your responsibilities. Keeping up appearances will determine the kinds of opportunities you are given.

Gemini An unexpected change will catch you off guard. Do your best to stabilize your position by minimizing your involvement in a potentially costly situation.

Cancer Take a different approach to the way you handle people, money and emotional issues. If you look for creative solutions, you will make an impression on your peers.

Leo Put a halt on any decision that involves an emotional situation. You aren't likely to make the best choice at this volatile time. A work matter will suffer if ego is involved.

Virgo Listen to others' offers or suggestions, but don't make any sudden changes. Gathering information will help you make a move when the time is more appropriate.

Libra Think twice before you sign up to do something with a partner. The chance of clashing on several issues will make it difficult to get things done your way.

Scorpio Choose a destination that you find inviting. Whether it's in your community, far away, or the confines of your home, the respite will do you good.

Sagittarius Resolving issues that can be damaging to your relationship with a business or personal partner will encourage you to make decisions that will improve your life.

Capricorn Keep it simple when dealing with any expenditures or business deals today. Be cautious if someone tries to sell you something. Stick to your budget.

Aquarius Put more energy into the way you present who you are and how you look. Make a positive change at home that will help cut your costs.

Pisces Offer assistance to those in need. Take time to explain what you mean when dealing with young and old people alike in order to avoid a misunderstanding. EUGENIA LAST
